

Senior Urban Designer
Bristol

£30,000 - £35,000 + £4,500 Car Allowance + Bonus + Benefits

We are currently working with a highly established, multi-disciplinary consultancy with offices across the UK. Working across multiple high-profile UK projects, they offer services across the entire project, from planning and design through to delivery.

There is now an exciting opportunity for an experienced Urban Designer to join the consultancy's high performing design team. Reporting directly into the Urban Design Director, you will be leading project teams throughout the design process from brief development to the site analysis, design development and the preparation of outline and detailed planning applications.

With an understanding of the urban design/masterplan project, you will be conducting pivotal research into technical urban design and planning issues. Responsibility will be in your hands for testing layouts, plans and drawings, together with design and access statements.

The successful candidate will be degree level educated (ideally in Urban Design) and have previous experience coordinating residential-led urban design projects. In addition, proven knowledge of current planning issues and the wider regulatory framework is essential for this post.

In return, you will receive an attractive salary and benefits package, and the opportunity to develop your career with the backing of a true market leader.
